8th Making Cities Liveable Conference Liveable Cities for the Future
Pullman Melbourne on the Park • 6 – 7 July 2015

Invitation to Attend

In 2015 we will return to Australia's most 'liveable' city, Melbourne, to share knowledge, insights and best practice in pursuit of healthy, resilient and sustainable cities.

Our decision to bring together the key themes of Healthy, Sustainable and Resilient reflects the rich interrelatedness of these domains.

This conference, now in its 8th year, has evolved as a unique space for practitioners and stakeholders to share and reflect. We will re-introduce panel discussions in 2015, to allow for emergent conversation and a greater emphasis on dialogue.

So, whether you are a familiar face or a newcomer, we would love to hear your unique perspective, have you join our growing community and add your view into our pool of collective wisdom.

I look forward to welcoming you in person in July.

Paula Drayton, Conference Chair
Director, Resource Advisory Pty Ltd, QLD

About the Conference

The 8th Making Cities Liveable Conference will be held from the 6 – 7 July 2015. With Melbourne being named the world's most liveable city for the fourth year in a row, it is only fitting that the 2015 conference is being held at Pullman Melbourne on the Park.

2015 will be our 8th Annual Conference, continuing our support for improving the quality of life in our capitals and major regional cities. You are invited to join us as we address the conference theme, Liveable Cities for the Future.

Australians enjoy some of the most liveable cities in the world. However the future and liveability of our cities face a number of challenges in the next 10 years. Delegates and speakers are invited to come together as we address these issues of increase populations demands, affordable and adequate housing, transport and mobility, job disbursement, resource management, public health and planning for an ageing population.

With three-quarters of Australians living in 18 major cities, the way cities are developed is vitally important to accommodate future growth and change. The conference will examine the challenges, opportunities, trends and issues currently facing cities and future development.

Two Conferences! Three Days! One Location!

A new development is the launch of the Safe Cities Conference, held directly after the 8th Making Cities Liveable Conference in Melbourne, VIC.

The Safe Cities Conference will be held on the 8 July and will look at how we create cities that are safe places to live, work, play, visit and study. The conference brings together leading practitioners to discuss the challenges of designing and planning safer communities, crime prevention, industry and community consultation.

Special registration discounts are being offered to those that attend both conferences.
